Current trends show that it makes sound economic sense for every community to support the growth of women owned businesses. Women are starting business at twice the rate of men, minority women owned businesses are starting at three times the rate of every group, and women own 40% of all businesses in the United States. STWBC's 2nd Annual Business Symposium is an event that brings aspiring entrepreneurs, established business owners, community leaders, business advocates, government agencies, and private corporations together to support each other through today's economy.

Your investment in this program provides STWBC the capital it needs to assist women, minority and low income clients build on their dreams through education, counseling, and support.

We truly appreciate your investment in STWBC and our programs. Without the generosity of folks and organizations like yours, STWBC would not be able to provide quality entrepreneurial education and support services at a time when it is needed most for our clients. Thank you for helping small, minority, women owned businesses keep San Antonio and the greater Alamo Region growing economically.

Your investment will help our clients and their businesses gear for success.
